Second Quarter of FY2025 Earnings Highlights and Topics

President CEO Norio Nakajima

Highlights of the Financial Results

Financial Results of FY2025 1st Half

Revenue 902.8 billion yen

- Revenue were up 2.2% year-on-year. Revenue for high frequency modules and multilayer resin substrates decreased mainly for smartphones but revenue for server and distributors increased for capacitors. Excluding foreign exchange effects, revenue increased by 5.5%.
- Revenue increased compared to the forecast for the first half. The main factors were that the yen depreciated compared to the forecast, and concerns about an economic recession caused by various countries' tariff policies eased, leading to higher-than-expected demand for final set volumes. Revenue was weighted toward the first half due to a pickup in component demand ahead of schedule in the smartphone market and for the National Day holidays in China.

Operating profit 165.1 billion yen

- Operating profit were up 4.4% year-on-year. Excluding foreign exchange effects, operating profit increased by 13.8%. An increase in the operation rate contributed to profit growth.
- Operating profit increased against the first-half profit forecast, mainly driven by gains in capacity utilization associated with increased production output compared to the forecast, the effect of a weak yen, and efforts to reduce fixed costs in anticipation of risks such as tariffs.

Revision of Projected Financial Results

Projected Financial Results for FY2025(October)

Revenue 1,740.0 billion yen

- Revenue were up 6.1% 100.0billion yen compared to the April forecast. Demand for components increased across all applications, beginning with communication and computers. Excluding foreign exchange effects, revenue increased by 2.7%.
- The main factors were the progression of the yen's depreciation from the assumed exchange rate (140yen → 145.52 yen) and growth in demand for set volumes compared to the April forecast, following the easing of concerns about an economic recession due to tariffs.

Operating profit 280.0 billion yen

- Operating profit were up 27.3% 60.0billion yen compared to the April forecast. Excluding foreign exchange effects, operating profit increased by 14.7%.
- Compared with the full year profit forecast was mainly driven by gains in capacity utilization associated with increased production output compared to the forecast, the effect of a weak yen.

Assumptions Behind Projected Financial Results and Our Company's View

- Smartphones In smartphones, new models and Chinese IDHs performed favorably, and an increase in total units is expected year on year.
- Vehicles An increase in the xEV ratio is expected year on year.
- PCs Replacement demand is expected to increase unit sales, mainly for laptop PCs.
- Servers The component proportion declined due to the downward revision of total units stemming from a higher density of AI servers. Conversely, the number of components per unit is expected to rise, and demand for our components is projected to increase year on year.

	FY2024 Actual		FY2025 Projections(April)		FY2025 Projections(October)		Change
							FY24 vs FY25	vs Projections(April)
Smartphones (units)	1,170	M	1,170	M	1,210	M	+4%	+3%
therein 5G smartphones	66.7	%	69.2	%	66.1	%	(1%)	(5%)
Vehicles (units)	89.5	M	88.5	M	90.3	M	+1%	+2%
therein xEV	39.0	%	46.4	%	43.7	%	+12%	(6%)
PCs (units)	380	M	390	M	390	M	+3%	+1%
Proportion of AI servers	12.5	%	17.0	%	13.1	%	1.1 times	(0.8) times

* Smartphones and PCs are based on the number of demand for components.

Vehicles are based on the number of units produced. Servers are based on the number of units shipped.

Recognition of Business Environment

Premises of projected financial results as of April

Revenue

- Demand for AI Data Centers components continues to be firm.
- An increase in the number of products required per end-product and demand for high-performance components due to the rise in xEV proportion and AD/ADAS technologies
- Impact of a decline due to a pickup of high-end smartphones ahead of the schedule. The amount of the negative impact is 15.0 billion yen for the full year
- Power tool market in line with actual demand.
- Ongoing decline in product prices.
- The assumed exchange rate: 140 yen per US$

Productions

- Production output planned to increase excluding the effect of exchange rate fluctuations
- Inventory buildup planned, mainly of components to prepare for future demand growth

Costs

- An increase in production-related expenses coupled with a rise in the operation rate.
- Increased spending including human capital investments and DX-related expenses.
- Implementation of investments essential to expanding the adoption and market share of our products from the next fiscal year.

Recognition of the current situation as of October

- Concerns about an economic recession caused by various countries' tariff policies eased, Final set volumes overperformed our assumption.
- Component demand for AI Data Centers remains firm.
- The impact of the suspension of semiconductor shipments for automobiles is under investigation.
- Although product prices continued to decline, price reductions for consumer devices progressed more moderately than our assumption.
- The assumed exchange rate after Q3 at 145 yen per US$.
- In Q2 , inventories decreased due to seasonality and in response to front-loaded demand.
- The component business is set to maintain high operation rates and continue increasing production output after Q2.
- There is no change in the investment plan from a medium- to long-term perspective.
- Planned cost control will continue.

Second Quarter of FY2025 Financial Results Summary and Business Overview

From April 1, 2025 to September 30, 2025
Consolidated Basis

Executive Deputy President CFO

Financial Results Overview

1st Half of FY2025 (YoY)

- Revenue decreased for high-frequency modules and multilayer resin substrates for smartphones but increased for capacitors for servers, resulting in an overall increase in revenue.
- Operating profit increased due to profit-increasing factors such as a recovery in the operation rate and cost reductions, despite profit-decreasing factors such as a fall in product prices and higher fixed costs.

Quarterly Revenue, Order and Backlog

- Total orders for the company increased from the previous quarter. Demand remained firm, particularly for communication applications, coupled with an increase in the valuation of foreign-currency-denominated backlogs due to the yen's depreciation.

* Orders = Revenue + Backlogs at the Current Quarter - Backlogs at the Previous Quarter * Backlogs are calculated based on exchange rates as of the end of each quarter.

* Exchange rate against the U.S. dollar: 142.82 yen at the end of September 2024, 149.53 yen at the end of March 2025, 148.89 yen at the end of September 2025

Overview by Segment – Components

[FY2025 1st Half vs FY24 1st Half]

Revenue	Capacitors +9.0%	MLCCs : Revenue increased for servers and distributors.
	Inductors and EMI filters +9.6%	Inductors : Revenue increased for mobility and smartphones.
		EMI Suppression Filters : Revenue increased for mobility and servers.
Operating profit		Operating profit increased year on year due to gains in capacity utilization associated with increased production output, despite the appreciation of the yen and a decline in product prices. *The comparison includes the impact of one-time revenue generated in FY2024 1st Half.

Overview by Segment – Devices and modules

[FY2025 1st Half vs FY24 1st Half]

Revenue	High-Frequency Device and Communications Module (10.2%)	High frequency modules : Revenue decreased for smartphones and PCs. Multilayer resin substrates, SAW Filters : Revenue decreased for smartphones.
	Battery and Power supply (10.5%)	Lithium-ion secondary batteries : Revenue decreased for power tools and video game consoles.
	Functional Device +6.1%	Sensors : Revenue Increased for mobility.
Operating profit		Despite deteriorated profitability in the high-frequency device and communications module business due to the appreciation of the yen and a decline in revenue, profitability improved in the battery business, and one-time expenses decreased, resulting in a year-on-year increase in profit. *The comparison includes the impact of one-time revenue generated in FY2024 1st Half.

*Based on our estimate. Please note that from FY2025, we will change the scope of revenue classification by purpose to better reflect the actual state of our business. For the purpose of comparing year-on-year changes, the results for FY2024 have been reclassified according to the new classification.

Current Inventory Situation

- Inventories as of the end of Sep. 2025 decreased 0.6 billion yen from the end of the previous quarter. Excluding the impact of yen depreciation at the end of the quarter, there was a decrease of 6.6 billion yen.
- Inventories of components as well as high-frequency devices and communications modules declined, driven by a pickup in demand ahead of schedule in the smartphone market and for the National Day holidays in China.

Breakdown of Operating Profit Changes

[FY24 1st Half to FY25 1st Half]

*"Production increase" is calculated on the basis of production output excluding the effect of sales price reductions and exchange rate fluctuations.

*"Others(Product mix etc.)" include the impact of one-time expenses generated in the 2nd Quarter of FY2024

Cash Flows

- Cash flow from operating activities decreased year on year, despite higher profits compared to the same period last year, primarily due to a smaller reduction in inventories.
- Cash flows from financing activities include share buybacks and dividend payments, as in the same period of the previous fiscal year.

	FY2024 1st Half (B JPY)	FY2025 1st Half (B JPY)	Y on Y Change (B JPY)

Projected Financial Results for FY2025

From April 2025 to March 2026

Projected Financial Results for FY2025

- The full-year earnings forecast has been revised upward for both revenue and profit.
- Demand for set volumes grew compared to the April forecast following the easing of concerns about an economic recession due to tariffs, in addition to the yen's depreciation. A pickup in demand ahead of schedule in the smartphone market and for the National Day holidays in China led to component demand being weighted toward the first half, with a reactionary decline expected in the 2nd half.
