2. Reason for revision

The Company has revised its previous earnings forecast for the fiscal year ending March 31, 2026, in light of its results for the six months ended September 30, 2025, and the outlook for the third quarter onward.

The results for the six months ended September 30, 2025 have been lower than initial assumptions in the Functional Chemicals segment due to a decrease in shipments as a result of inventory adjustments by some customers in cosmetics-related products.

From the third quarter onward, cosmetics-related products in the Functional Chemicals segment are likely to undershoot initial forecasts for the full year despite the completion of inventory adjustments for some customers and the recovery of shipping. Defense-related products in the Explosives & Propulsion segment are likely to exceed initial forecasts due to the identification of contracts for certain transactions related to initial costs for the rapid acquisition, in which revenue is recognized based on the fulfillment of performance obligations over a certain period.

Although the outlook for the global economy is expected to remain uncertain throughout the fiscal year, the progress achieved up through the six months ended September 30, 2025, the demand outlook, and the revised exchange rates suggest that the full-year net sales, ordinary profit, and profit attributable to owners of parent are likely to exceed the previously announced forecasts.

The direct impact of U.S. tariff policy is expected to be limited and immaterial throughout the fiscal year. If concerns arise over its impact on financial results, including the indirect impact on results, we will disclose this information as appropriate.

The expected average exchange rates for the full year in the assumptions on which the earnings forecasts are based were revised from the initial rates of 145 yen/U.S. dollar and 160 yen/Euro to 147 yen/U.S. dollar and 170 yen/Euro.

4. Reason for revision

Recognizing that returning profits to its shareholders serves as an important managerial issue, the Company accordingly strives to maintain and increase its dividends while also taking a flexible approach to purchase and cancellation of its treasury shares.

The Company has revised its interim dividend per share from 24 yen per share under the previously announced forecasts, for a 2-yen increase to 26 yen, upon having comprehensively taken into account factors that include the above policy, results released as of the date of this notice and the Company's financial status. In addition, the Company has also decided to increase the year-end dividend per share by 2 yen to 26 yen from the previous forecast of 24 yen. As a result, total annual dividends per share will be 52 yen, for an increase of 4 yen relative to the previously announced forecasts and an increase of 7 yen relative to the previous fiscal year.

(Note) The forecasts above have been made based on information currently available to the Company and certain assumptions deemed to be reasonable. As such, actual results may vary due to various factors.
