2. Reasons

The Company regards shareholder returns as one of its key management priorities. As its basic policy, the Company aims to provide shareholders with ongoing returns in line with business performance while maintaining sufficient internal reserves to support stable future growth and respond to changes in the business environment.

Although the Company recorded net loss attributable to owners of parent for the fiscal year under review, in accordance with the above policy and after comprehensively considering its financial position, its internal reserves, the funds required for future business development, and other relevant factors, the Company has decided to pay a year-end dividend of 5 yen per share for the fiscal year ended July 31, 2026, as initially forecast on September 12, 2025. Accordingly, together with the interim dividend of 5.00 yen per share already paid, the annual dividend will total 10 yen per share.
