2. Reason for the revision

Regarding the full-year consolidated business performance forecast, we have revised our sales volume forecast, as higher fuel prices triggered by the Middle East conflict have caused the shift to electrified vehicles to progress faster and on a larger scale than expected, and price competition has also intensified. In addition, with the Middle East conflict prolonged, higher fuel prices and the shift to electrified vehicles are expected to continue, and cost deterioration from rising material prices is expected to worsen. In light of this situation, we have revised our business performance forecast, as shown above.

The exchange rate assumptions of the US dollar and the euro on which the full-year consolidated financial forecast is based are set at 157 yen and 184 yen, respectively. We have revised our global sales forecast to 764,000 units.
